Portraits and people

Below are some of my favourite photo's I've taken of either my friends or commissioned work for clients.

(I have obtained consent from everyone you see to publish these photos)

MISC

Taken in Glenrowan. The negative space was darkened using the clone stamp tool and Wacom tablet.

This shot was taken during a walk to the Warby ranges. My friend got her hair done so I thought it would be a good focal point. I tried to match the background with the turquoise hue of her hair.

Most of my days off are spent driving somewhere out of town. In this instance my friend and I went to the Mount Buffalo lookout/ I really like the skin tones contrast with the blue sky, the sun was in the perfect spot that time.

After a long boring day at work, my friend Letty and I needed some nature therapy. She was feeling good today so she asked for some nice photos of her. She looks very stylish.

Like I said earlier, I need to escape my boring town every chance I get. On this occasion, we went to explore the abandoned Wallaby mine in the Stanley pine plantation. We arrived just after 1pm so the sun was poking through the trees in the perfect way for this photo.
